Town Should Prosecute

The axe seems to have been rather freely used in the town park among the poplars, several fine young trees having wantonly been cut down and left lying on the ground. Parties in other parts of town are complaining of the same thing. It is reported that boys are carrying hatchets around with them and causing this destruction.

However this may be, the Town Council should pass a by-law with a heavy fine attached as a penalty for anybody caught in this vandalism. Tree life is too precious up here to have it destroyed in this senseless manner.

How to Find The Grasshopper

The Department of Agriculture, through the Schools of Agriculture, are prepared to help the farmers in combating grasshoppers. These grasshoppers are likely to appear any time during the next three weeks. The vast majority of the insects are not out along fences and roadsides or on sod lands adjoining cultivated areas. For a week or 10 days after hatching out the grasshoppers are very small and do not move out into the cultivated area to any extent, confining their feeding area pretty much to the immediate vicinity in which they were hatched. After they develop and reach a larger size they begin to migrate to better feeding grounds. It is at this stage that it is essential to poison and in this way do away with them before they spread through the grain fields.

At the present time it may appear to some as though these insects would be of very much trouble. However, it is worth while spending a certain amount of time prodding in the surface half inch of soil on some of the homelands that are used, to see if there are many grasshopper eggs which are likely to produce these pests in a short time. These eggs are a dirty white color usually found in clusters of 25 that are possibly three eighths of an inch in length and about one sixteenth of an inch in diameter. If you find eggs that appear to answer to this description we would advise that you watch your homelands and adjoining sod land closely during the next three weeks to make sure that many of these insects do not hatch and gain access to your cultivated fields. At this stage millions can be destroyed with a very small outlay for poison bait.

We have at this school a man who is at the service of the people in assisting with this work, and we would be very glad to have anyone who is in need of help to communicate with us for advice and also for the material for the poison bait which we have on hand and will send out to the farmers at cost.

well played and close throughout. During the first three innings the score was held down entirely by the Olds team, standing 1-0 in their favor. On the home boys then settled down somewhat and gradually brought the score up to a more even standing. W. Schmidt pitched the first several innings for Didsbury and Year Wood finished the game in the box while the Olds team were forced to use three pitchers. A dispute arose over their taking one pitcher out of the game and then using him in again the next inning however this was disallowed and he was left out. Owing to the soft nature of the grounds there were no home runs hit. The Olds grounds have been well used and in a short time unless the other teams back up they will have the best grounds in the surrounding district.

Western Premiers' Conference To Discuss Unoccupied Land Problem

The announcement has been made in the Manitoba Legislature that Premier T. C. Norris will call a conference of the prairie provinces. Premier Norris expressed the opinion that uniform legislation is necessary to deal with the unoccupied land problem in Western Canada. It is also proposed that the conference consider the position of settlers now on the land with a view of finding ways and means to increase their productivity to the country.

It need not be argued that the calling of a conference for such a purpose is timely and in the national interest, for it has been well said that the economic future of the West and of Canada as a whole, depends upon the proper settlement of the unoccupied lands affecting existing railway lines and upon the improvement of conditions affecting the production of basic farm products.

The forthcoming conference is the outcome of various meetings held between the Western Provincial Cabinet Ministers and the officials of the Western Canada Colonization Association.

In the memorial recently presented to the Western Governments by the Managing Director of the Colonization Association, the view was clearly and strongly expressed that uniform legislation, calling for the listing of unoccupied lands at farm prices and for a reasonable period, was the keystone to the success of any genuine colonization movement.

It is idle to advance the theory that voluntary listing of unoccupied lands will suffice, for those who are in a position to judge as to the possible success of any voluntary movement are seriously impressed with the statement of General McRae that the proposed legislation is both reasonable and necessary, if the money subscribed to the Western Canada Colonization Association is to be expended in the national interest.

The listing of unoccupied lands with the provincial governments will enable their Land Boards to issue maps and price lists similar to those now issued by the railway companies. Such maps and price lists will be generally distributed and will not only serve the purpose of the Western Canada Colonization Association, but as well all the land agencies throughout the provinces. In addition the necessary information will be provided to enable the Dominion Government to direct immigrants to the vacant lands near existing railway lines where homesteads are no longer available.

The unqualified endorsement given throughout the country to the proposal for provincial legislation is evidence that the people of the West are seriously anxious to effectively deal with, and find a solution for, the unoccupied land problem in the prairie provinces.

The proposed "inter-provincial Premiers' conference" will probably be held at an early date, the outcome of which will doubtless affect every citizen's interest in the West. In the meantime every Board of Trade, Municipal Council, Farmers' Organization, and all interested public bodies and citizens, should give serious consideration to this important subject and make representations in regard thereto to their respective Governments. Some legislation undoubtedly is necessary to deal with the serious unoccupied land problem. Needless to say, every urban resident is affected by the success or failure of the farmer on the land and should therefore be equally interested in the forthcoming Premier's conference when agricultural conditions will be fully explained and an honest attempt made to find a remedy for existing ills.

Germany Lost Her Opportunity

Released Chance to Make Voluntary Offer to Allies.

The British premier says upon the very eve of the problem, when he sees the chance of attaining Germany's surrender, that the first days of the war were when they came as opportunities to each on November 11, 1918. Today Britain is making every effort to win the day, but for a moment of her delay. "She is beginning to challenge her responsibility," he says, and when her representatives refuse to face their obligations they are cheered, and encouraged and supported.

Germany had an opportunity to make a voluntary offer, but she refused to take advantage of the offer. When forced to take action, the proposals she made were in the words of the British premier "exasperating."

Today she is faced with an ultimatum backed by the rifles of Britain and the bayonets of France. If the terms are harsh Germany has only herself to blame.—The Montreal Star.

Discoverer of Radium Is Remarkable Woman

Madame Curie's Position In Scientific World Is Without Parallel In History.

Mrs. Marie Curie, discoverer of radium, is in New York to receive the gift of one gram of this very valuable element from American women. The rise of this woman to the position of a leading scientist of the world is without parallel in history. The daughter of a poor but distinguished Polish scientist, she worked her way up in the field of her choice until today she bears the unique distinction of having, together with her husband, received the Nobel Prize award, being the first and only woman professor at the Sorbonne in Paris, of having received the ribbon of the Legion of Honor because, as she put it, "I don't like decorations," of receiving the English Albert Medal from the Royal Society of Arts, the second to be granted to a woman, Queen Victoria having received the first. There were many more honours and decorations offered, but the response in almost all instances was similar to the one given to the suggestion of the Legion of Honor award.

After Three Years Of Liquid Diet, Kaiser Is Picture Of Health

"I had lived on a liquid diet for three years and my case had twice been pronounced hopeless, but Tausac has completely overcome my stomach trouble and I eat meat, vegetables and everything else I want now," said Joseph S. Kaiser, a boiler-maker, who lives at 331 Beverley St., Winnipeg.

"My trouble dates back to a spell of the flu three years ago and from that time up until I took Tausac I steadily went down hill. For a whole year I was so weak I couldn't put my foot out of the house and while I spent hundreds of dollars trying to get on my feet, nothing helped me a particle. I just moped around the house so weak I couldn't even lift a shovel of coal. I was suffering nearly every day from dizzy spells, headaches and awful attacks of nervousness. My skin got yellow and I felt off until I was hardly more than a walking skeleton.

"This was the first I was in when a friend called and persuaded me to give Tausac a trial. He was certainly a friend in need. I improved right from the first dose. I am as sound as a dollar today, have put on twelve pounds in weight and look, so everybody tells me, the very picture of health. I feel twenty years younger and the change in me is so great that my friends who know what a desperate condition I was in see me now are simply amazed. I have never known anything in my whole life to equal it."

Tausac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

Bolsheviks Abandon Food Control

Order Came Too Late To Relieve Situation.

Lenin's abandonment of government control of foodstuffs came too late to relieve the situation in Bolshevik Russia, according to letters received in Berlin from a family which has lived in Petrograd throughout the Bolshevik regime.

"The conditions are worse for us than they were when food was issued on cards," one letter stated. "We are told now that we may buy food, and the peasants are told they may sell food without violating government regulations. But there are no food shops. And the peasants about Petrograd have little food to sell. They don't want paper rubles."

"There's a Reason"

Old Fort Ellis and Sioux Indians

Crossing the Plains to Fort Carlton
Summer 1875.

By O-G-M-A-S-E-S (Little Clerk).

(Copyrighted)

The month was July and shortly after my arrival five York boats arrived from the furthest north post in the district, Lac du Brochet, situated at the northern end of that lake and semi-arctic in climate. About half the boat crews were Chippewyan Indians. It was my first meeting with this tribe and certainly a greater contrast in appearance to that of the plain Indians could not be found. They were rather short, more Asiatic in looks, many of them blue-eyed, and they were not a pleasant looking lot, but by all accounts good hunters and industrious people. Brochet was a famous fur post, and as many of these men were now hunters, they nearly all had considerable credits with the company, goods having run short at their home post. These balances ran from fifty skins to two and three hundred a man, and fortunately for us Mr. Pierre Deschambault accompanied the boats, having succeeded his father before him in charge of that post and, moreover, speaking Chippewyan like a native. I and a young apprentice clerk named Jack Stewart, were detailed to the trading store and here we passed many hours getting up with these Indians who appeared to be very inferior to the Crees in intelligence.

Two or three were taken into the store at one time, Mr. Deschambault being present, then goose-quills were solemnly counted out to them in accord with the number of skins to their credit. At first we tried to hurry the procedure, but soon found that the more haste the less speed with these primitive men, as once get them confused and they would have to commence at the beginning and go all over the performance. The old trader as it was called in which the trading store was situated, was about a hundred years old, built of massive square timber, which had been rafted down the Saskatchewan River. Down on the floor sat several Chippewyan and spread out before him were the quills, and as he kept sorting them out in various little lots, would exclaim in guttural accents his wishes. The language they spoke was very different from any of the other native languages I had heard and sounded as if it was uttered from the back of the throat. Mr. Deschambault would answer him in the same clucking and so on until my patience was sorely tried, as we were very busy and working every light. But at last a list would be given us and we would fill the order. In due time they were all paid off and then we had the business to settle with, also much stuff to pack for various posts, as boats had to leave at a certain time to get at their destination before freeze-up.

Madame Belanger, who had been a Miss Marion, was a lady of much refinement, very kind to our youngsters and constantly entertained us. She had a beautiful garden in which cultivated roses formed a prominent feature, and these were quite equal to anything you would find in Eastern Canada. Madame Deschambault, who had accompanied her husband to headquarters, was a gay young creature, and only too delighted to get away from the lone desolation of Lac du Brochet to the comparative civilization of Cumberland House where dances were held several times weekly. Pierre himself detested so-called civilization, and counted the days until he could return to his beloved north country. He was known to be possessor of a considerable private income (which he took good care of) and in an instant sent down some years before, just after he was married, we were included with his private order one very indispensable article of China, that is generally kept under the bed. Some were changed this to one dozen and again at the Fort Garay Depot the dozen was erased and gross written in, so that we had then twelve cases containing 144 of these articles were shipped to Brochet on Pierre's private account, the freight, of course, amounting to many times the prime cost. This was the first trip he had made to Cumberland since these goods were forwarded and as the story was well known we all went to hear the result, but Pierre remained discreetly silent in regard to it. He, however, finally produced a bale of most beautiful beaver and other skins. "Hello," was Factor Belanger's remark, "what is this? You will know private trade is not allowed." "Well," was his slow and cautious reply, "when kind friends sent me up so much China I let the fact be known to the Chippewyans that some entirely new vessels had just come in which were invariably used by white people, and they shortly became the rage, and the Indian family who could not serve up caribou soup in one of them were not counted amongst the elite of savages." There was a great laugh. Truly Pierre had one on the crowd, and credit was at once given to him for the total cost of the goods, while the company annexed the fur. A slow smile spread over his face, and he sure was not so slow, now was he?

We at last had all goods ready for Lac du Brochet, Pelican Narrows and other posts, and one fine day away they went on the long and arduous journey of many portages and rapid rivers, not to mention Lac Brochet itself, which is said to be some two hundred and eighty miles long and full of islands. In fact one year in four weather the boat brigade has to leave and get out their direct course, which was marked by lobsterline from island to island, got lost for a week. The whole lake is still a terra incognita, and though geologists have reported valuable mineral veins it is even at this late date, considered like so much of the great north country.

Factor Belanger, having decided to go east for the winter on a visit to his people, The Pies was made head-quarters for the district, and as Mr. Allen Matheson (chief clerk) a very talented Scotchman, was placed in charge of the district, with myself as an assistant. Alas, all the districts accounts covering a territory extending from Grand Rapids at the mouth of the Saskatchewan River to a point midway between Brochet and Chertilly, roughly stretching some seven hundred miles in length) came to The Pies for my education, but there I have mentioned in a former article.

Mr. Matheson rose to be a chief factor in the service, his last charge being Fort William. His death occurred some years ago and was greatly lamented. He was very much beloved in the service by employees and Indians alike; in fact to know him was to love him, and personally I owe him a deep debt of gratitude for helping to shape my future.

Coal Freight Rate Cut

Reduced 10 Per Cent. From Alberta Mines to Prairie Provinces.

Winning.—A reduction of ten per cent. in the rates on coal from the Alberta mines, to the three prairie provinces is granted by the Railway Commission in a judgment according to an Ottawa dispatch to the Winnipeg Evening Free Press. The despatch says:

"The mine operators and the dealers alike co-operated in an application to the board for a 20 per cent. reduction. The board grants 10 per cent. pointing out that when there was a general increase in freight rates last fall coal did not figure in the same extent as other commodities and that with such a reduction the increase would not be more than five per cent. The order is effective June 1, and expires August 31."

Many Injured In Fire Which Destroys Dublin Custom House

Seven Civilians and One Auxiliary Killed In Catastrophe Alleged to be Work of Sinn Fein.

Dublin.—The Dublin Customs House is in ruins and all the most important documents of the Government relating to Ireland together with papers and records, the value of which cannot be estimated, have been destroyed. This Dublin Castle officially announced, is the work of Sinn Fein forces, which made the most formidable attack against Government property that has been engineered since the present rebellion was started.

London.—The Irish office has issued the following official report on the Customs House fire at Dublin: "Three renderers carrying auxiliary cadets and accompanied by an armed force approached the Dublin Customs House shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon. As they approached the building, a number of bombs were thrown at the renderers from the railway bridge, while revolver fire was opened on them from the windows of the Customs House, which was occupied by a large force of Sinn Fein men."

"The renderers accompanied under heavy fire and surrounded the Customs House which was seen to be burning. Fires from the auxiliaries and the machine gun on the armored car were poured into the windows of the Customs House, from which the rebels replied vigorously and a series of desperate conflicts followed between the green forces and seven or eight parties of rebels who rushed from different doors of the building, making dashes and firing as they ran. The first party to emerge consisted of three men, one of whom was killed and the other two wounded."

"By this time smoke and flames were pouring from the building and the official staff, including many women, who had been held prisoner by the rebels, came flocking out with hands above their heads, waving white handkerchiefs. While the staff was making its exit, the rebels made a last sortie, this party consisting of six men, only one of whom escaped, the rest being killed or wounded."

"Some of the auxiliaries then stormed the blazing building where many of the rebels surrendered. Some of them were found to be saturated with petrol and several were probably burned to death before the crown forces entered."

"The forces were held up at the fire escape by rebels so that the fire engines did not arrive until 2 o'clock by which time the fire had taken hold of the entire building. At the conclusion of the fighting, dead and wounded rebels lay about on all sides of the building, while the ground was strewn with broken glass and empty cartridge cases."

IN MEMORIAM

In ever loving memory of my beloved husband, Elton Christner, who departed this life at his home on June 1st, 1919.

Ah! Why was he taken so young and so dear.

For I loved him—yes no tongue can tell.

But Christ loved him too, and thought it best

To take him home with him to rest.

Now alone in my sorrow sad tears flow

Ther's stealthy sweet dreams of a short time ago

And unknown to the world he stands by my side

And whispers these words, "Death cannot divide."

Some day, some time, not yet perhaps.

But I will wait and not forget.

Some day our hands shall clasp and see.

The dear face held in loving memory.

For fresh in my heart his loving memory clings

Yet still my heart is sore.

But each passing year will nearer bring

The day we shall meet once more.

Then both to rest in God's sweet peace.

Dearlv loved and deeply mourned.

Why
"Auto-Shoes"?

We figure that any automobile casing has a right to be called a "tire"—whether it's good, bad or indifferent. And we agree with the opinion that an exceptionally good casing deserves a distinctive name. Ames Holden's "Auto-Shoes" are miles better in performance than ordinary tires. That has been proved to our satisfaction. So we think it's a good idea to identify such unusual mileage givers by an easy-to-remember name—"Auto-Shoes."

The main purpose of the name is to help you to get cheaper mileage. The guarantee behind Ames Holden's "Auto-Shoes" insures that you get it. It is necessary for adjustment should ever arise you will find that you will get satisfaction without trouble or delay.

THE CARELESS SMOKER
Apologies to Kipling

A fool there was and his pipe he lit
(Even so you and I)
On a forest trail where the leaves were lit
To become ablaze from the smallest bit
Of spark—and the fool he furnished
it
(Even as you and I)
The forest was burned to its very roots,
Even beneath the ground,
With the flowers, the birds and the poor dumb brutes,
Old hoary pines, and the tender
shoots
Which might have made logs but for each gloats.
Allowed to wander around.
The lumberjack has now passed on,
His pay day comes no more,
And the screech-owls haunt the camp at dawn
Where the cook's tin pan woke the men of brown:
But the mill is silent, the trees are gone,
The soil and forest floor.
A deadly sight are those hills or rocks
Which once were beds of green:
No hope for the human, no food for the flocks:
The floods must be held by expensive locks.
While the harbor is silted to the docks—
The ships no more are seen.
But the fool smokes on in the forest still,
Leaves campfires burning too,
While the patient public pays the bill
And the nation's wealth is destroyed for nil.
If the law doesn't get him, the Devil will—
SMOKER, IT'S UP TO YOU.

"The Red Cross emerged from the Great War with a record unsurpassed for service and efficiency. Organized to save life amidst the wreck of war, it has become a sign that war shall one day cease and that the love of man will finally conquer the hate of man. It is one of the grandest agencies in the world for promoting goodwill among the nations. It has become part of the League of Nations and constitutes an international force that will help to enoble civilization, gain for war, we are now to witness the grandest spectacle of organization for the promotion of peace and health, for the mitigation of suffering and calamity."

In these words Lieut. Governor H. G. Brett summarizes the ideals of the Red Cross, in a message to the people of Alberta. Always an ardent Red Cross supporter and worker, His Honor, calls on the public to join. He points out that the Red Cross today constitutes an international brotherhood of people carrying on a great work for humanity.

In concluding this stirring message the Lieut. Governor says:
"Great as is the peace program of the Red Cross, let us not forget that its war program is not yet finished. Over five hundred veterans are still in the hospitals in this province, who need the services of the Red Cross. They bear the cruel wounds and disabilities of war. This is the opportunity of the people of Alberta to remember them and cheer them. Many of them can never do well again. They can have no part in the work of reconstruction which we all hail with so much fervor and hope. But with their fallen comrades they have proved to us that the world is worth saving and reconstructing. There are hundreds of soldiers and their families in this province who are not yet fully or even partially established. They need the Red Cross service. They disclaim and rightly so, the efforts of private charity. The Red Cross can do so much to alleviate and prevent suffering in these homes."

Renew Your Membership In The RED CROSS

During the war everybody gave to the Red Cross. In these Western Provinces, hundreds of thousands of citizens joined in the greatest flood of gifts ever poured through a single voluntary organization.

Because the need was vital, the emergency ever pressing, there was little formality of membership. Everybody belonged to and was a part of the war-time organization of the Red Cross.

Red Cross now has peace-time duties just as important to humanity as its greatest service of devotion in time of war. The Red Cross Societies of the world have leagued together in a broad-gauge, carefully planned continuous campaign—

For the Improvement of Health, the Prevention of Disease and the Mitigation of Suffering Throughout the World.

This work is to be carried out at home, right here in our own country by our own Red Cross and simultaneously in every one of the thirty-one countries associated in the World League of Red Cross Societies. The Red Cross peace-time crusade for good health is separate and distinct from the war work of the Red Cross or the great task that it is still carrying on, growing out of its care of those who suffered in the war. To endorse, support and carry on its peace programme the Red Cross asks the approval of every citizen through the enrolment of his or her individual membership. The Membership Fee is $1.00 per year. The payment of this dollar when you enroll your name is all the money the Red Cross is asking of you.

Enter Mother-in-Law

By Ella Randall Pearce

The letter was addressed to Mrs. Franklin Kirby and its contents enclosed secrecy. "I want to surprise Franklin," wrote that young man's mother.

"And you've surprised Franklin's wife, too." This thought was slightly tinged with bitterness, for Vera had her preconceived notions of mother-in-law, and her first feeling was resentment that her happy little home was so soon to be invaded by the arch-enemy of domestic tranquility.

"Franklin's mother-of-course I expected to meet her some day. And of course, I'll do my best to get on with her. But now—Vera bent above the written page again.

"I'm coming for a visit, but if it suits me I may stay." Vera gave it a gasp at the read. "The ideal Cool I call that. Coming for a visit—and may stay. Does that mean forever? Oh, well I'll have to hang out the welcome banners, for Franklin's sake. Vera kept her secret during the next few days, but it rankled within her heart. You couldn't tell her anything about mother-in-law! She knew what they were like, even the best of them.

They never thought a woman quite good enough for their precious son, and Franklin was an only child! And they never quite approved the wife's housekeeping methods, especially her cooking. And they always considered the other woman a little extravagant, to say the least and a little careless of little comforts and a little too fond of worldly pleasures.

"Oh, I'm sure to come in for criticism and advice," reflected Vera. "And Franklin thinks me quite satisfactory as I am. Now he's going to have my faith pointed out. Now he's going to learn that the woman he married isn't and never can be quite as good as the mother he ferociously loved."

Vera went about her daily tasks, comparing up dimming visions of what the advent of the mother-in-law would mean. She had known Franklin but a short time before they were married, and she had not met a single member of his family. And there had been much for her to learn in the way of domestic arts and sciences. "And now I'll be told how far from perfect I am!" Vera shook her head as she went about the task of setting the guest room in order. It was also her sewing room, and now she would have to give up her needle work for the present.

"And, if it suits her, she'll stay—Vera gave a little to ask Franklin some questions about his mother. But I don't dare. He'd suspect. If only I knew more about her. First impressions are so important. Well, the scene is ready, the time is come, enter mother-in-law!"

And then a taxi whirled up to the door, and the stranger guest whirled into the Kirby's living room and dropped all her bundles to embrace the waiting hostess.

"So this is Vera, little Vera. Why, you're head and shoulders above me,"

"I'm laughing, silver-tongued voice. "Can you go to take a good look at you when I get a chance. Oh, my, you're—"

"I'm dropping them all over the floor. They're for Franklin. I've brought some bon-bons for you, my dear!"

The newcomer threw off her wraps and looked eagerly around.

"Franklin's home—if you know how I've wanted to see it. Can't I look about now, every nook and corner?"

She slipped a hand childishly into Vera's clasp. "You modern young housekeepers frighten me," she rapped. "You're so wise, so efficient. I never did learn to keep house!"

Then she laughed merrily. "But I kept a cheerful home, and that's something I made Franklin's father happy. And I made Frank happy as long as he was with me. And now you're making him happy. I know by his letters."

She looked long and lovingly at Vera, and tenderly patted the hand she held. "Just Franklin wonderful!" she said with enthusiasm. "Isn't he worth doing things for?"

They stepped into the tiny little and white kitchen. Oh, just like a toy house, exclaimed Franklin's mother. "I believe I could work here and enjoy it. But I never did care for kitchens, and cooking seems a mysterious art. I always had someone else do the cooking, and I gave my attention to the service end. I can pour tea to perfection!"

Vera watched her in bewilderment as she went from room to room, talking enthusiastically of many things. She was an exquisite figure, slender and light-footed, with silver blond hair fashionably arranged, bright blue eyes and a fresh pink and white complexion. Her small nose uplaid a trifle and there was a dimple in her cheek. She had an air of permanent youth. The sort of person who never grows up, thought Vera. Yet there was wisdom and shrewdness, too, in her bright eyes, and an undercurrent in her silvery tones that twanged at one's heart strings now and then.

"Such a dear sweet home. I'm going to be happy here while I stay. And I'm going to do all I can to make my visit a happy memory for you two dear children."

Childhood. Vera already felt old and sober beside this light-colored, light-footed stranger. The elder Mrs. Kirby tilted her head charmingly, with a sparkle of mischief in her glance.

"Did my letter worry you? I always announce my visit in that way, that if I am suited I shall stay. But I never stay." Her dimple came into play. "I am a wanderer. When Franklin's father was living, we traveled together and so I got into habits. I have friends everywhere. So I tour and visit, but I never stay."

Vera watched her vivacious guest as she arranged the roses she had brought in a cabbage vase. A sudden tenderness crept into her heart. A thrilling longing, almost maternal in its nature, to draw that gay, young, childish spirit within the sweet protective circle of home life.

She went softly to the other woman's side and laid a caressing hand on her shoulder.

"I want you to remember, Mother Kirby," she said, and her voice quivered with newly awakened emotion. "Whenever you get in your home. Always. With Franklin and me. And always we shall want you to come and stay as long as you will."

South Africa Behind In Caring For Veterans

Canadian Delegates Return From Conference With Marshal Haig.

Marshal Haig has returned to England from South Africa, whither he had gone to preside at the empire conference of Great War Veterans. He said the British Empire Services League for ex-service men throughout the empire gave him a hearty welcome.

The two Canadian delegates to the Cape Town conference, R. B. Maxwell, of Winnipeg, Dominion president of the Great War Veterans' Association, and J. Morgan, of Toronto, representing the Army and Navy Veterans' Association, returned back to England with Earl Haig.

Mr. Maxwell declared that South Africa was much behind the other dominions in caring for ex-service men.

They are an excellent remedy for these evils.

More Gypsum In Canada

Large Reserve Available If Market Can Be Found.

In drilling to test the commercial possibilities of the salt beds in the Fort McMurray district of the Athabasca River country, recently, it was found that there are nearly 100 feet of anhydrite and gypsum of commercial quality at depths ranging from 500 to 600 feet, and if a market can be found for it there is a large reserve available for development. Gypsum is one of the important non-metallic minerals of Canada, and is found in several of the provinces, but was not known to exist in the far north. The total production of the mineral in Canada in 1920 was valued at $1,676,095, but the value of the deposits of the ore must run into many millions.

Refuse To Change Wheat Grades

Ruling Is A Great Disappointment To American Farmers.

United States wheat producers of the border country, and especially throughout the northwest, are keenly disappointed over a ruling just announced by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, refusing to change the federal grade on spring wheat, except in one small particular. The decision is regarded as a victory for millers, though Secretary Wallace promises a thorough investigation prior to marketing season a year hence. The Canadian grain trade is much interested in the situation.

Where Farming Pays.

Starting out to work a farm with a mortgage tacked on it for more than the farm was worth was the prospect of Sam Chute, of Berwick, Nova Scotia, 25 years ago. Last year he sold 20,000 bushels of his own apples, and about 60,000 quarts of strawberries. The old mortgage is gone and forgotten, except as a memento.

"Your Teeth"

By Rea Proctor McGee, M.D., D.D.S., Editor of Oral Hygiene.

IN LATER YEARS.

Copyright, 1921, by Rea Proctor McGee.

Time lies in wait for every man and will get him sooner or later if something else doesn't. When time begins to get a man the question is, how well is he prepared to resist the downward drag of years? We know this drag is sure, but all we hope to make it slow. It must be terribly disconcerting for a man to suddenly have the shills knocked out from under him and to miss the pleasure of the long, quiet twilight of life.

Not that any of us are yearning for that "quiet twilight" business, but it is the best we will have when it comes, so let's make the most of it.

It is a fact that men and women past fifty years of age, who have perfect teeth, are remarkably free from chronic disease. Very few people who are past fifty years and who show advanced pyorrhea and decay of the teeth have anything like normal health.

There are people seemingly to ninety who have nearly perfect teeth and their splendid health leads us to believe that there is a definite connection, in old age, between good teeth and good health.

Many old people are vigorous who have well-fitted artificial teeth, much healthier in fact than people of the same age who have advanced pyorrhea, or a number of abscessed roots, or both, in their mouths.

Artificial teeth are made from porcelain. A great deal of careful study has been put upon the shapes, colors, types and contours of porcelain teeth.

The making and fitting of plates to the mouth, and the arrangement of the teeth, both from the artistic and from the mechanical aspect, has been reduced almost to an exact science in America.

If we keep our machinery in good repair as we go, we will have no regret when the time comes to replace and jog along quietly to the end of the road.

"Sengite" Is New Explosive.

South Africa is now manufacturing a new material to take the place of nitro glycerine explosives. It has been tested in mines and is regarded as both strong and safe. It is called sengite, the first syllable being derived from the initial letters of the words, "substitute explosive, no glycerine."

A sign has been discovered in an old tailor shop in Pompeii reading: "Cresses brewed in your togar while you wait."

LETTER FROM MRS. WAKELIN

Tells Remarkable Story of Sickness and Recovery.

Toronto, Ont.—"I suffered greatly from weakness, seemed to be tired all the time, and had no ambition to do anything or go any place. My nerves were in bad shape. I could not sleep at night, and then came a breakdown. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and several of my friends advised me to use it, and it surely put new life into me. Now I am quite able to do all my own work, and I would strongly advise every suffering woman to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial."—Mrs. CHARLES WAKELIN, 272 Christie St., Toronto, Ont.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as that above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for more than forty years.

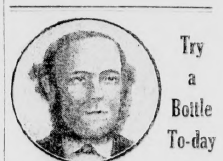

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (Confidential), Lynn, Mass.

The Thrift of the French

People Have Worked and Saved Money Since the Armistice.

France was dreadfully torn by the war, terribly depleted financially by its expense. But what do we see now? Two years and a half after the armistice her people are able to invest 10,000,000,000 francs a year in bonds! There's a lesson in thrift, in saving, in resources, for the whole world! It had anything to compare with it in America our prosperity would be the marvel of all ages, our money power almost beyond computation. But France has not been spending billions for heavy steel plate came to her. She's been saving her ruin while we have enjoyed scattering our dollars. And they work in France—Chicago Journal of Commerce.

The park is now in such a beautiful condition that it should be the Mecca for all picnic parties. When you are on the west side of the hutte the town is completely hidden from view and on a clear day there is no better view of miles upon miles of beautiful cultivated country with the Rockies towering majestically in the background. Yes, it's an ideal picnic grounds.

Mr. Ed. Johnson, who has been in the barber business here for the past year or so, is moving his location from the Rensselaer Hotel to the Lewis Block on or about the 15th of June. In connection with the barber shop he intends to run a first class billiard room which will, no doubt, be a great drawing card among the experts of the vicinity as he is installing some fine tables and cues. Mr. Johnson is well liked in town and an expert barber so that he should have no difficulty in making a success of his new project.

We have had to send out quite a number of subscription accounts this week and while you may get a shock if you receive one don't get mad and fire the blamed thing in the stove. If it's wrong tell us and we will help make it right. If it's right help us to help the other fellow by paying our debts.

About twenty members of King Hiram Lodge, A. F. and A. M. joined to Carstairs on Sunday afternoon to attend divine service with the Carstairs Lodge. After listening to a splendid address and excellent solos at the Methodist Church the visiting brethren from Crossfield, Olds and Didsbury were entertained to a light lunch provided by the Carstairs brethren.

Omond will be in full charge of the office.

The new management of the Rensselaer Hotel is making many changes of a very beneficial nature to the detriment and is bringing the hotel back to its old standard of service satisfaction.

Visitors to the town park during the last few days have remarked on the very much improved conditions that exist there now and it should be a matter of pride with the townspeople to keep it in as good a condition as it is at present. All the underbrush has been cut away amongst the clumps of poplars and a general cleanup has been made of the refuse lying around until it now looks like a boy dressed in his Sunday best to go courting. Councillor Berscht is responsible for the good work which was all done under his directions by a band of Indians during last week and the expense has been very small. High to keep him in his usual spot in the present condition by being careful not to scatter unsightly refuse all over the park.

very good. C. Stander and W. Keith, (winded for the locals and done them selves credit. There were two home runs knocked out, one by a Crossfield boy and one by Stander. In the fifth inning a dispute arose over a close play in the game which pretty near finished it. Crossfield was at bat with the bases full. The ball was batted out and caught, thrown to first and then thrown to home. Crossfield claimed that the man running to home was safe while our boys argued the other way. The umpire didn't seem to have much say. After talking it over for a while they decided to continue however. The fielding on Didsbury's team was much better than that of Crossfield. Owing to lack of time rest space we cannot give the full play of this game. Crossfield only scored four runs in the first two innings and this comprised their total count, the game ending up 15-4 in favor of Didsbury.

The League now stands as follows:

TEAM	WON	LOST
Dids	1	2
Didsbury	2	1
Crossfield	1	3
Aldrie	2	1

The League is giving a medal to the player making the most home runs during the season, and a medal to the pitcher having the highest average of strike-outs.
